Norway to Atlantic Group Pact

Reach Decisions
Despite Soviet
Warnings; Vote
Made Unanimous

By Glenn Williams
OSLO, Norway, Feb. 21.—(P)—Norwegian Foreign Minister Halvard M. Lange announced today Norway has decided to pin her security to the Atlantic Pact.

Informed sources said Russia's three weeks old offer of a non-aggression treaty will be rejected.

Lange told a news conference his country lost faith in neutrality in 1940 when the Nazi army overran it.

He now believes the best hope of staying out of a war is to pursue a policy that will prevent or reduce the possibilities of war, Lange said.

Norway reached her decision despite Soviet warnings. The dominant Labor party has approved the pro-western foreign policy of Lange.

The vote at a party meeting was 229 to 33, but the opposition yesterday decided to make it unanimous. Parliamentary approval still is needed but is expected this week.

OSLO, Norway, Feb. 21.—(P)—The famous North Cape—Russia's gateway to the Atlantic—is a military pushover. A battalion of Soviet troops could seize it any day that Stalin gave the order.

The North Cape flies the Norwegian flag. But it is temptingly situated near Russia's Arctic frontier. In the present condition of Norwegian defenses, it is virtually unprotected.

Many strategic prizes lie close to the vital limits of the Soviet Union. But none appears so helpless as the North Cape in case of a small, local attack—an attack designed by the Kremlin to be "short of war."

Backed By Parliament
The government's decision to turn the Atlantic Alliance is backed by virtually all 150 members of the Storting (parliament) except the small Communist representation.

Lange indicated he will take his time about answering Russia's representations, waiting until the parliament has had time to debate it.

The government, meanwhile, has not made up its mind exactly when and how Norway will join the Atlantic grouping, Lange said. The final decision awaits parliamentary discussion. But the decision will not be long delayed, he added.

No On Two Points
Lange disclosed he had presented in Washington the Swedish idea of a Scandinavian defense union based on neutrality backed mainly by Sweden's arms. He got a no on two points:

1. The defensive strength of such a union would not be enough to prevent aggression;

2. Supplies of arms and other materials are so short they must be used to the best effort. The proposed Scandinavian union was felt to be too small and isolated for that.

Lange said these answers cleared up the situation and made Norway realize isolation is not possible for her.

Observers said it is only a question of time before Norway joins the North Atlantic Pact negotiations in progress in Washington. They said the U. S. timetable probably would be the deciding factor on when the Norwegians join.

To West For Protection
Lange stressed the belief it is necessary for Norway to turn to the west for protection because he believes the United Nations alone is not capable of ensuring peace.

Norway's leaders feel a regional defense system offers more protection for small nations. But they rejected a Scandinavian pact with Sweden and Denmark because they believed that too could not afford them the security they need unless it were tied in with the North Atlantic Pact.

The projected North Atlantic Alliance would link the defenses of the United States, Canada, Britain, France, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg.

The Norwegian Labor party action killed Swedish and Danish hopes for a last-minute change in the Norwegian attitude. They had hoped for a compromise between the original Swedish stand for a completely neutral Scandinavian alliance and the Norwegian stand for a definite link with the Atlantic powers. The compromise alliance would have been neutral in form only, since it would have relied on the west for military supplies.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—(P)—The state department said today more than a score of American consular officials and employees in Communist-held China have not been heard from directly in weeks.

She Was Cruel To Tall Snake

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—(P)—A tall, willowy brunette night club dancer today was found guilty of cruelty to a tall, willowy snake.

Magistrate Harry G. Andrews found the dancer, Katherine Boyd, who appears under the name of Zorita, guilty on a complaint made against her by the Society For the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

The snake's name is Elmer. He's a 10-foot, eight-inch python she uses in her dance.

The society said she taped Elmer's eyes and mouth during the act. It claimed that another snake died after she used it in a show.

Magistrate Andrews fined Zorita $100, but reduced it to $50 when he learned New York police had taken away her performer's permit.

Telephone Co. Rate Increase Is Set Aside

Judge S. C. Blair
Reverses PSC Ruling,
Orders New Hearing

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 21.—(P)—The Southwestern Bell Telephone company already has made some collections under a new rate schedule which was set aside and declared illegal today by Circuit Judge Sam C. Blair at Jefferson City.

A Southwestern Bell spokesman said the company would not be in a position to comment on Judge Blair's findings until it has time to study it.

No estimate of the amount of bills collected under the new rate schedule was available, but the company spokesman said at least two groups of bills sent out were based in part on the schedule of higher rates put into effect Feb. 1.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Feb. 21.—(P)—Circuit Judge Sam C. Blair set aside today a $3,228,000 rate increase granted Southwestern Bell Telephone company in Missouri.

He reversed a Public Service Commission order granting the increase and ordering a new hearing.

His decision represented a victory for Kansas City, St. Louis, Trenton, University City, Kirkwood and other cities which opposed the increase. The boost was effective Feb. 1.

Judge Blair said the PSC's action was "arbitrary, unreasonable and capricious and its order was illegal."

The commission granted the increase on a 3 to 2 decision but one of the concurring commissioners, Agnes Mae Wilson, differed on part of the findings. This did not give the increase a proper majority, Judge Blair held.

No Time To File Motion
Miss Wilson's separate concurring opinion was not filed until Jan. 31. Judge Blair said that did not give the opponents time to file a motion for a new hearing before the increase went into effect the next day.

"Counsel for the commission and the Southwestern Bell take the position that the concurrence of Commissioner Wilson in the result only is a sufficient concurrence in the findings of fact of the other commissioners to give the report and order validity," Judge Blair said.

His Opinion
"I do not think so. 'I think it was the intention of the general assembly' to require a majority concurrence in both the findings of fact and the result."

Miss Wilson concurred in the result approved by Commission Chairman Morris E. Osburn and Commissioner Kyle D. Williams, who presided during months of hearings.

Two other commissioners, E. L. McClintock and Charles L. Henson, dissented in the original PSC decision because, they said, though Bell perhaps should have a rate increase, the amount granted was much too large.

Judge Blair added: "A majority of the commissioners concurring in the result only, conceivably could disagree entirely, or substantially, with the findings of fact x x x and base their concurrence in the result entirely upon different and individual findings of fact which would remain unknown to the defeated litigant."

Must Have Findings
He said the losing party must have all the findings of fact before it.

Give First-Hand Report on Whirlwind Train Romance

FLINT, Mich., Feb. 21.—(P)—The parents of a 19-year-old Flint girl got a first-hand report today on her whirlwind train romance with a Marine corporal.

They concluded "There's no reason the marriage shouldn't work out all right."

The couple, Cpl. Floyd H. Simonis, 23, and the former Miss Mary Ella Taunt, are spending a few days with the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Taunt.

Simonis is stationed at Moffett Field, Calif. He said he planned to quit the Marines and become a commercial artist.

Missouri's Weather For The Week Starts Slick And Wet

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 21.—(P)—Missouri's weather for the week started out slick and wet.

Freezing rain and drizzle coated highways with ice in northwest Missouri, while elsewhere over the state there were light rains.

The situation at St. Joseph this morning was reported the worst of the winter as a clear glaze coated streets and highways. The condition was general north of the Missouri river, but the hazardous nature of the highways was relieved as the temperatures moved upward.

Numerous injuries were reported here in traffic accidents and falls on icy sidewalks.

The forecast calls for rain southeast and east central portion and occasional light freezing rain or drizzle in the extreme northeast portion with Tuesday partly cloudy and warmer.

Three Students Die in Wreck
OTTAWA, Kas., Feb. 20.—(P)—A motor car-truck collision on an icy curve of U. S. Highway 50-S. here last night killed three University of Kansas students, and critically injured two more students.

Killed in the accident were Gerald H. Chapin, 23, and his wife, both of Arkansas City, Kas., and Daniel Webster Taylor, 22, Norton, Kas.

In a critical condition in an Ottawa, Kas., hospital are Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Jones, Arkansas City.

The accident, described by Art Jensen, of the Kansas State Highway Patrol, happened as the five-passenger coupe carrying the five students met the truck on the curve. The car was jammed under the trailer and dragged 90 feet.

Start Work on Hospital Bldg.
NEVADA, Mo., Feb. 21.—(P)—Construction began today on a $375,000 addition to the Nevada hospital.

The project, which will increase the capacity from 21 to 55 beds, is the first begun in Missouri under the federal hospital survey and construction act of 1947.

Federal funds, allocated through the state for the addition, total $125,000. The remainder of the cost was obtained through a $225,000 bond issue voted last July and $25,000 from the hospital's reserve fund.

Ground breaking ceremonies were held Sunday afternoon, with Mayor C. P. Fraser turning the first shovel of earth. Contracts call for completion by December 1.

Under the federal act, local communities supply two thirds of the cost and the federal government the remainder. Other cities of the state being aided by the act include Rolla, Perryville, Troy, Hayti, Kennett, Mexico, Carthage, Louisiana and Kirksville.

City Council Meets Tonight
The City Council will meet in regular session in the City Hall at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

Searching for Woman's Body
RICHLAND, Mo., Feb. 21.—(P)—A search is being made of the flooded Gasconade river near here for Josephine Bartlett, 29, after the body of her husband, Joe Bartlett, 34, was recovered late yesterday.

The couple's automobile was found in the river about 30 yards downstream from a low-water bridge and the body of the husband was found about a mile downstream.

The couple, who have been missing from their home near here since Friday, were thought to have driven off the bridge, which was covered by the flood waters, or swept away by the current.

Cold Weather Helped

The arrival of colder weather eased the river situation. At Agency, the Platte receded into its banks today after a three-foot overflow on Saturday.

The Grand river was reported jammed with ice above Brunswick. Ralph Aldrich, river forecaster, said the stream still was over its banks but receding at Summit. The Charlton river, still two feet over its banks at Novinger, is receding slowly.

Overnight rains caused the La mine to kickup and bankful or slightly higher stages are expected by tomorrow at Clifton City. Aldrich said that while the temperatures may forestall a breakup in the Missouri river ice, the water pressure is high so it is not yet possible to relax vigilance. The stream, he said, is ranging from four feet above bankful at Achison to bankful at the Nebraska line.

Woman Juror Cannot Knit During Trial
MEXICO, MO., Feb. 21.—(P)—Should a woman sitting on a jury be permitted to knit?

Circuit Judge Frank Hollingsworth thinks not.

Spying a woman knitting in the jury box this morning, the judge said after long reflection: "Often the testimony of a witness is accompanied by gestures with the hands which a juror might miss if knitting."

Fourth Round Increase For Transit Union
PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 21.—(P)—A subway guard shouted "Watch the Doors!" A crowded trolley motorman besought his passengers to "move to the rear of the car."

For Philadelphia's commuting millions, those were welcome sounds today. The city's 10-day transit strike was over.

The Philadelphia Transportation company's rolling stock began moving last night, a few hours after rank and file CIO unionists roared approval of the pay raise that ended their walkout.

The transit tie-up cost business and industry an estimated $70,000,000.

It forced the 3,200,000 daily PTC riders to scramble into the city on their own resources. Sardine-can tight suburban trains lugged some, many walked. Throngs hither-hither.

The principal talks Sunday night were given by J. C. Holbert of Washington, Ia., who was today's judge of the show, and E. D. Long Dean of Agriculture of University of Missouri.

Superintendent of the show and sale is Rollo E. Singleton, department of Agriculture of Jefferson City. Officers of the Missouri Hereford Association are W. T. Matney, president, Dearborn; Charles Bianchi, vice-president, Macon; L. A. Weaver, secretary-treasurer of Columbia, and A. J. Dyer, assistant secretary-treasurer of Columbia.

Iowa GI Breaks The Ice With Queen
KING'S LYNN, Eng., Feb. 21.—(P)—An Iowa GI broke the ice with Queen Elizabeth.

Doing something no English subject would dream of, he stepped up and introduced himself to her Majesty.

Sergeant Charles Smith of Cedar Rapids saw her touring King's Lynn's 800-year-old fair last Saturday.

Unabashed, he asked her to pose for a snapshot, and she did, smilingly.

"Then they had a little chat."

"A very charming person," Smith decided.

Transportation Strike In Italy
ROME, Feb. 21.—(P)—A transportation strike crippled much of Italy today.

Fifty thousand employees of 178 privately-owned traction and shipping concerns started a 24-hour strike at midnight to protest government-ordered lay-offs.

GE to Resist Giving 4th Round Increases
NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—(P)—The General Electric Company has announced it will resist granting fourth-round wage increases to 200,000 employees.

L. R. Boulware, G-E Vice President in charge of employee relations, said that on the basis of "anything we see now, no wage rise is or will be justified."

The statement came a day after the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America (CIO), reportedly said it plans to seek wage increases and other benefits in forthcoming negotiations with G-E.

The ill children and three sick members of the staff at the school will be brought to the Indian hospital here.

Walter F. Gray, area principal of the Indian Service, said it is believed shock and exposure suffered during recent storm conditions had contributed to the epidemic. According to word received here the disease had caused inflammation of the throat and mouth.

Dirty Deal For Sweeps, So They Go on Strike

BERLIN, Feb. 21.—(P)—Berlin's chimney sweeps went on strike today. They said they are getting a dirty deal.

The chimney sweep in Germany, with his black face, top hat and armful of brushes, is a good luck symbol. Strollers touch him for luck.

Four hundred sweeps met in a beer garden and voted to strike. They included the sweeps from the Soviet sector. This kind of unity in Berlin hasn't been seen for a long time.

They want a pay boost from 55 to 77 marks a week—a raise from the current $16.50 to $23.10. They also want one-fourth of their pay in west marks so they can buy soap. They say Soviet-backed east marks won't buy soap.

Pres. Truman Should Control Policy Abroad

Overhauling of
State Department
Is Recommended

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—(P)—The Hoover commission today urged a top-to-bottom overhauling of the State Department to remove "flaws" in the handling of the nation's foreign relations.

The commission laid down a list of 22 recommendations in a report which said the reins over this country's dealings abroad—now spread out all over the government—should be concentrated squarely in President Truman's hands.

While some of the group's suggestions were directed to Congress, most were aimed straight at the State Department. That agency, the commission declared, has fallen to "low esteem" with lawmakers, the press, the public and many of its own officials.

The main reason for this, the report said, is the department's postwar work overload.

Proposals Included
The 12-man bipartisan commission on government organization is headed by former president Herbert Hoover.

As vice chairman, Secretary of State Acheson helped draft the recommendations for improving the department he came to head.

Those proposals included:

1. Letting the department drop such operating functions as handling passport visas, munitions control, aviation and shipping, so it can concentrate on policy matters.

2. Providing the secretary with a larger top-level staff to help lift the "intolerable burden" he and his undersecretary bear. There should be two new deputy undersecretaries, eight assistant secretaries instead of six, and a general reshuffling of functions, the report said.

Top Officials Needed
3. Building up a team of expert negotiators to represent the United States at international conferences—an arrangement already started with the appointment of Philip C. Jessup as a special ambassador. The top of the State Department, said, "are needed in Washington."

4. Gradual merging of the Foreign Service and regular State Department establishment into a single foreign affairs service, with all employees obligated to serve either at home or overseas.

5. Giving such a responsibility to ambassadors and ministers abroad that there could be no conflict with other American representatives on the scene.

Thumbs Down On Civilian Control
Along with these recommendations, the group turned thumbs down for the present on any move to transfer the military governments of Europe and Japan to civilian control.

The commission submitted its recommendations without any savings, noting that postwar readjustments already have cut down State Department personnel by 26 per cent.

5,000 Homeless
SHANGHAI, Feb. 21.—(P)—Nearly 100 straw huts in Shanghai's Chapel slums today were destroyed by fire that left 5,000 homeless.

On the senate side, the prospect is that the administration bill will come out of committee with few changes. The outcome in the Senate itself may be an entirely different story.

Murray contended that backers of the Taft-Hartley law at the Senate committee hearings have argued the need for it by using "the device of the horrible example," carefully dressed up and repeatedly trotted out to confound and frighten the unwary. He called that "unfair and irresponsible."

Post Office to Close Washington's Birthday
Tuesday, February 22, being a legal holiday, the post office will be closed all day.

There will be no delivery of mail by either city or rural carriers. Special Delivery mail will be delivered and all outgoing mail will be dispatched.

The regular holiday collections will be made from street letter boxes.

Grange is For the T-H Labor Law

Spokesman States
Farmers Played
Important Role in Re-electing Truman

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—(P)—The National Grange, a farm organization, told Congress today that those who claim the November election was a mandate for outright repeal of the Taft-Hartley labor law are in "error."

The Grange said farmers played "fully as decisive a role" in the re-election of President Truman as any other group and that farmers believe the Taft-Hartley act has had "a corrective effect" on labor-management disputes.

J. T. Sanders, legislative representative, presented the Grange's views to the senate labor committee.

The committee is considering the proposal of the Truman administration to junk the Taft-Hartley act and replace it with a law more like the original Wagner labor relations act.

Senate the Battleground
The senate is expected to be the main battleground on the issue.

Sanders' argument to the senators was in direct conflict with one they got in a letter from CIO President Philip Murray.

Murray's letter said also that the labor bill is the "keystone" of the entire Truman "fair deal" program, and complaints that "not a single one" of the fair deal proposals has been enacted in the first 50 days of the 81st Congress.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—(P)—Senator Morse (R-Ore) today accused the National Association of Manufacturers and the United States Chamber of Commerce of "selfishly" seeking to "hold labor down" through "restrictive" legislation such as the Taft-Hartley act.

He said that amounts to "a Judas betrayal of the capitalist system" because only through "fair" legislation can the capitalist system "move forward."

Morse lashed out at the two businessmen's organization in a statement issued during the senate labor committee's hearings on the question of new labor legislation. He is a member of the committee.

Murray said, too, that Senator Taft (R-Ohio) has made a "long list of concessions and retreats" adding up to a "reluctant concession" that the Taft-Hartley law is unworkable. Taft, asked by reporters for comment, said he wanted to study Murray's letter before replying.

After Sanders read his statement for the Grange, the Senators questioned him.

Sanders said repeatedly that the Grange is not opposed to organized labor.

But he suggested that unions, instead of "overemphasizing high wages," should tie wages to the cost of living, so that wage rates would automatically rise or fall with prices.

Sanders said neither labor nor management can come before congress and "rightfully claim rights which exclude or subordinate public interests." He added, "We believe many of their (Labor's) claims have been of that stripe."

There have been no hearings on the bill yet on the House side of the Capitol and the labor committee there is in recess until March 1.

After a nose count, however, House administration leaders told reporters privately they are confident that most of the bill will go through.

Expect Stronger Provisions
But one high ranking Democrat predicted the House will write into the bill stronger provisions for dealing with "national emergency" strikes. As drafted, the bill does not authorize the government to get injunctions against strikes which endanger the national

THE STORY: Quiz Show Winner John Henry and Sin Conover, spending an expensive vacation at a swank resort, witness the death of Homer Anglin. Before Anglin dies he whispers to John Henry, "You already got it." Then the Conovers' quarters are occupied by Faye Jordan under a pretext of a mixup in reservations, and their luggage is searched while it is moved to another cottage. Johnny, deciding to "get chummy" with Faye in order to learn more about the mystery, meets her at the swimming pool. Sin tries not to be jealous. Also at the pool are Sagmon Robotom, an architect; Miss Thelma Loomis, a gossip columnist; and Mr. Trim, representing the quiz-show sponsor.

SIN clenched her fists hard. She said to herself: now look here, St. Clair, you are not—positively not—going to lose your temper. Across the pool, Miss Jordan was smiling sleepily up at John Henry's attentive face. Sin closed her eyes tight and gritted her teeth. Now look here, she began again.

But she was on fire, from the dark red page-boy down to the crimson toenails that peeked out of her suede sandals. I don't look so bad, either, she thought. In fact, I look darn good. She was wearing the filmy white blouse that her husband liked and the full peasant skirt. The ensemble chopped at least five years off her age and made her look a saucy 18 again. Anyway, not like a cast-aside wife of three years' standing.

She spared another angry glance at the couple across the pool. John Henry was helping the Jordan girl to her feet. Her husband flashed a guilty look at Sin and then the brunette seized his hand gaily and started to drag him along the flagged path toward the guest cottages. Sin's lips pressed out flat in a thin red line and she clenched her fists.

The reluctant Conover was pulled out of sight between screening palms. A few paces away, Thelma Loomis and Mr. Trim were nodding and talking—probably about John Henry. Sin flushed at the thought.

Two brawny hands appeared on the tile bank at her feet. Sin moved out of the way to let the swimmer hoist himself from the pool. She kept going, her mind made up. Fists still clenched, Sin marched determinedly after her husband.

On the other side of the palm trees, she felt the grip on her elbow, a cold wet hand. Sin shied away, startled.

A toneless voice said, "We had better have a talk."

TOWERING over her was the swimmer who had climbed from the pool at her feet. His short hair stood up in wet silver barbs. Water still trickled down his lean hard face and over the wiry muscles of his darkly tanned body.

"Well, I'm sorry," Sin said. Annoyance began to weave into her surprise. "I have to catch my husband before he—"

Iron fingers tightened on her elbow. "Talk first," the man said flatly. "One short warning before it's too late." His voice didn't match the vibrancy, the keen alertness of the rest of him. The words came from between his white even teeth with scholarly precision. But his colorless intonation made them colorless words, dead words.

The damp hand urged her off the main path onto a shady gravelled way. "Who are you?" said Sin faintly. Jealousy of the seductive Faye Jordan had vanished. The cold tight band on her elbow spread by implication to the rest of her body.

"A person who permits no interference," was the man's answer. "I'll make you see the reason of that," Sin found herself trotting to keep up with his long strides. They were headed for a huge brick and screen building that loomed through the tropical foliage. She thought of screaming just as he stopped. "Call for all the help you like," the white-haired man intoned. "No one will notice another noise from this direction." He folded his arms and his hawklike mask was intent, fierce.

THEY stood before the building. Its four corner pillars were bare adobe bricks. The rest was wire mesh that curved up until it seemed to melt into the bright sky.

Inside the aviary, hordes of bright-winged birds darted and soared in whirlwinds of color, enraged at the disturbing visitors. They flapped and cawed and screamed piercingly, flooding the air with outcry.

The din was tremendous. Sin bowed her head and put her hands over her ears. "Let me go," she begged.

Stronger hands pulled them away again. "Listen to me. My name is Sagmon Robotom."

The name didn't mean anything to her. "Let me go," Sin said again.

"My business permits me no respect for feelings," Robotom said. "I get what I seek. I've robbed graves and rifled tombs to do my duty—immortalize the dead. I want you to recognize how strongly I feel about this entire affair."

"We haven't done anything," Sin said. "Why should we be—"

Robotom cut her off with a savage gesture. "Neither you nor your husband will be hurt," he said. Then he added, "If."

"If what?" Sin quavered.

"If you forget all about this Jones business and go home where you belong."

Sin backed away, trying to remember who else had mentioned Jones recently.

"No more Joneses. No more Conovers in Azure. Can I depend upon you to take that message to your husband? Stay away from here and stay away from things which aren't your business. Briefly, Mrs. Conover—stay away from her."

Sin nodded automatically, blindly eyeing the hard gray eyes. Then she turned and fled.

The Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

by Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21—What appears to be a harmless medication for clogged-up noses has started a new dope craze that is creeping across the country. The dope is found in ordinary benzadrine inhalers — available for a few cents at most drug stores.

Not only are inmates taking dope from inhalers smuggled into the prisons, according to a prison survey, but the practice is spreading on the outside, particularly among young people. It was first brought to light by Alabama's congressman Geo. Grant, who stumbled onto the shocking use of benzadrine inhalers at Kilby prison, Montgomery, Ala.

In spite of rigid regulations to keep benzadrine inhalers out of the prison, Congressman Grant interviewed prisoners whose skin had turned yellow from using the drug, and who were able to get benzadrine-treated paper torn out of the inhalers and smuggled in to them. One sharpshooting spitball sniper had even flipped the paper wads into the closely guarded death cell.

In most cases the benzadrine-saturated paper was soaked in water, then the mixture was injected into the blood stream with a hypodermic needle, the congressman said. When the prisoners couldn't borrow or steal a hypodermic needle from the dispensary, they sometimes stuffed bits of benzadrine paper in to razor slashes on their arms.

Practice Spreading

A subsequent survey by Congressman Grant showed that taking dope from benzadrine inhalers started during the war in military disciplinary barracks. After the war the practice spread to civilian penal institutions.

Results of Congressman Grant's survey have not been made public, but here is a cross section of replies from prisons throughout the country.

Warden R. Balknew, Georgia State Prison — Benzadrine has caused us more trouble within this prison than any other form of contraband. We have had several lose their minds completely by the use of this drug.

Superintendent L. F. Chapman, Florida State Prison — In recent years the use by prisoners of these inhalers has been a major curse. The ease with which they can be purchased in any drugstore makes the effort to keep the inhalers out of prison most difficult.

Supt. O. M. Smith, Washington State Penitentiary — We, like every other penal institution in the country, are having a difficult time controlling traffic in this harmful and habit forming drug. It is definitely established here that the use of benzadrine contributes to the development of perverted practices. The use of benzadrine as a stimulant by thousands of persons not confined in institutions is also becoming a growing national menace. It is a well known fact that many college students use the drug as a stimulant during periods of examination. It is further established that many persons in the entertainment world, who are required to be awake and vivacious during all hours of the night, have become addicted to the use of benzadrine.

Warde W. E. Snyder, Sing Sing Prison — Regulations prohibit benzadrine inhalers but recently some inmates procured some through improper channels.

Dr. B. L. Steward, Arizona State Prison — I feel that if benzadrine inhalers were put on the prescription list 98 per cent of our trouble with inmates would be eliminated.

Warden E. T. Senon, Maryland State Penitentiary — While the use of benzadrine inhalers has been prevalent for a number of years it appears, since the war,

A composite sketch based on several actual storm photographs

JANUARY STORM DAMAGE

Its effect on earnings—higher rates needed

The January storms that struck in five states we serve constituted the worst disaster in the company's history—one of the worst the Bell System has ever suffered.

We are proud of the speed with which the force made temporary repairs. The permanent repair job will not be completed until mid-summer. The total cost of temporary and permanent repairs will amount to approximately ten million dollars.

Permanent increases in costs are of even more concern

Weather as destructive as this winter's is not always encountered but substantial storm damage occurs as a rule each year. Last year, for instance, repairs of storm damage cost two million dollars.

The effect of the storm on earnings will be severe; but of even more concern from an earnings standpoint are increases in costs like the 12 million dollar a year rise in wages and associated employment costs negotiated last December.

A year ago last September, because of low earnings, the company applied for rate adjustments throughout most of its territory. Increases amounting to about 16 million dollars have been granted; but it now seems certain that the higher level of operating costs experienced since the applications were filed will this year more than offset the increases in rates already granted.

The company has an obligation to expand and improve telephone service to care for the growing needs of the area it serves. On January 1, 1949, nearly 180,000 orders for service were still unfilled, but a gross construction program amounting to 151 million dollars has been scheduled for this year toward meeting this demand.

Earnings sink to lowest rate in company's history

Obviously, the only way of attracting new money in the large amounts needed for expansion and improvements is to keep earnings at a level that will create investor interest. Earnings now are at an even lower rate than during the depths of the depression and are at the lowest point in the company's history. These facts clearly demonstrate that if the company is to fulfill its public obligation, further rate increases are essential.

Hal Boyle Says
NEW YORK—(AP)—Roller skating is no longer just child's play. It's big business.
Skaters in more than 4,000 roller skating rinks across America now spend $235,000,000 annually on rink admissions and equipment. Or so the industry estimates.
And that doesn't include the millions spent by boys and girls for the ordinary hit-and-run sidewalk skates. Nor does it include other millions spent for skating sundries—such as short skirts, special shoes, iodine and gauze bandages.
Rink owners claim that today roller skating is the nation's number one participation sport—with 17,000,000 enthusiasts. It is nice to know that this many fellow countrymen are going around in circles on purpose.
Developed Accidentally
Roller skating itself, however, developed rather accidentally. The sport was started early in the 18th century by an unknown Hollander, a lover of ice skating. One summer, unwilling to wait until the canals froze over, he nailed some crude wooden spools to strips of wood attached to his shoes. And off he bumped along the roads of holland, startling innocent peasants.
In the next century the sport spread slowly through England, France and Germany. In the late 1860s a gentleman named James L. Plimpton organized the first successful American firm. Skating became a world-wide health fad. It was being done in the best families.
Wrote One Disciple:
"As Howe's sewing machine is to our industrial wants, or Morse's telegraph to commercial pursuits, so Plimpton's system of exercise is to the social and physical wants of society."
But the fad soon collapsed. The rinks were run too much on the level of the poolrooms of that day. You know—too many leering moustaches around. A good girl just didn't feel safe.
Since then the roller skating industry—like the skaters themselves—has had its ups and downs. A memorable landmark was 1884. In that year a fellow named Richardson patented a ball bearing and another fellow named Donovan wheeled 1,091 miles to win a six-day roller skate race in New York. The new craze lasted well into the 1890s.
Grew Quickly
The current boom began ten years ago when the industry was in the doldrums with a mere 1,700,000 rink followers. It grew quickly during the war years—thanks largely to factory workers and soldiers. And it kept right on mushrooming.
Rink owners have cleaned up the sport by getting rid of hang-ers-on and banning rowdiness. Many rinks now have dress rules. The gent must don a necktie. His lassie must wear a skirt of proper length.
The newer rinks are cathedrals of the roller skate. Two of the latest—in Staten Island, N. Y., and Alexandria, Va.—cost $500,000 apiece.
Draw All Kinds of People
They draw every kind of people, from kids to congressmen. The fans range in age from little Jackie Bays of White Plains, N. Y., who skated at 17 months, to "Pop" Carter, still giving exhibitions in his 83rd year.
Two skaters famous in other fields are Joe DiMaggio, who bats for the New York Yankees, and Claude Pepper, who pitches in the U. S. Senate for Florida.
Veteran rink operators are a little dazed by this sudden turn of fortune's wheel. They hope only that it'll last. Their unofficial motto:
"One good turn around deserves another."
At present there are 75,000 junior and senior roller skating clubs in the country to keep the wheels turning.

Beware Coughs Following Flu

After the flu is over and gone, the cough that follows may develop into chronic bronchitis if neglected. Creomulsion relieves promptly because it goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm, and to aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough or you are to have your money back. CREOMULSION for Coughs, Chest Colds, Bronchitis

HOME HINTS:
(A HEART-TO-HEART TALK WITH "DOC BOB" YOUR CLEANER)

There are over 400 different kinds of ink... the so-called water soluble inks, take a long time and lots of patience to get complete removal. Most inks contain a logwood dye to make them permanent on paper, which is also permanent on fabric. In other words, no cleaner can guarantee a remove ink, because he has to have a try at it first. The so-called home remedies... lemon juice, milk, and a thousand more, only tend to make a mess in your kitchen, on your garment and for your cleaner. The cleaning costs are very small and our years of experience have taught us the only safe methods of spot removal. It is our profession and our life interest. Trust your cleaner to always do the best he can.

Resident of Otterville Wins Award

A week ago today, T. E. Ware, Sr., of Otterville, walked into the home of his son, James Ware, in time to hear his name announced on the radio. Almost immediately the telephone started ringing and friends were calling to congratulate him on winning $250.00 worth of fishing tackle on the "Queen for a Day" program, but Mr. Ware was so surprised he didn't know what to say to them.

Unknown to him his son's wife, in Stilwell, Okla., Mrs. Raymond Ware, had sent in his name in the father's contest on the "Queen for a Day" program and her letter was chosen which entitled Mr. Ware to the fishing tackle. He is also eligible for the jackpot award which will be given later.

Award on the Way
Mr. Ware has not yet received the fishing tackle but has received a letter from the company telling him it would be sent to him soon.

The past few weeks have been full of surprises for Mr. Ware—good and bad. About three weeks ago one cold Sunday morning he started to pull out a bale of hay to feed his stock. The bale had been covered with loose hay to protect it and the loose hay covered with ice fell on him, pinning his arm beneath him. He lay there about two and one half hours before a niece became worried about him and when some of the family went to look for him, found him under the hay. He has not yet regained complete use of his arm, but he hopes it will be all right again by the time good fishing weather arrives.

Spy Report Was Not For Publication

Secret Military Document, States Gen. Willoughby

TOKYO, Feb. 21.—(P)—Maj. Gen. Charles A. Willoughby, chief of General MacArthur's intelligence staff, today offered to waive immunity to "legal or any other action" as a result of the Sarge spy report.

Miss Agnes Smedley, Missouri-born American writer, was named as a Soviet agent by the spy report, which was prepared under General Willoughby's direction. Miss Smedley denied the charge and threatened to sue General MacArthur if he would waive immunity.

In Detroit, Miss Smedley's attorney, O. John Rogge, said:

"If it's true the general has waived immunity and is taking responsibility for the report, he can get a New York lawyer right now because we're certainly going to sue."

Claim Libel
Rogge, here for the National Lawyers Guild convention, said there's no question Miss Smedley has been libeled.

The report as released by the army said a German Communist, Richard Sorge and a Japanese Communist priest important information from high connections in the Tokyo government. Both were later hanged by the Japanese.

Willoughby placed responsibility on Washington for releasing the spy report against the wishes of General MacArthur.

He made his remarks in a special statement obviously intended to answer an army public relations officers' remarks that the army lacked proof Miss Smedley was a Russian spy.

A Secret Document

"I differ emphatically from those who belittle the documentation supporting the report," Willoughby said. "This documentation is voluminous and has not been published."

Willoughby said the report was a secret military intelligence document and "was not written or intended for public release. The decision to release it to the public was the sole responsibility of Washington authorities and was not favored at this headquarters."

Presumably MacArthur approved the statement in advance as he does all such important announcements. It is no secret that MacArthur's headquarters was shocked by what was regarded as Washington's repudiation of intelligence methods used to prepare the report.

The navy is on the alert not only for its deep-sea trial of fighting ships against the A-bomb, but also because of disparagement of naval power by air power enthusiasts.

In particular, the air force has criticized the navy's yet-unbuilt 65,000 ton carrier as a pushover for bombers.

The navy has argued heatedly that even the A-bomb could sink no more than one ship out of a task force because of the wide dispersal between ships.

Bale of Hay Kills Shepherd

SALT LAKE CITY, Feb. 21.—(P)—Western airlift operations claimed a second victim yesterday. A bale of hay dropped from a plane struck and killed a shepherd.

The victim was identified as Willard Peacock, about 60, of Salina, Utah.

The first such fatality occurred earlier this month when a Navajo woman succumbed after being struck by a package tossed from a plane carrying supplies to snowbound Arizona Indians.

Rioting in South Africa
DURBAN, South Africa, Feb. 21.—(P)—Zulu attacks on this city's Indian population flared through a violence-torn night.

This is the second outbreak of such rioting since the new year. Natives attacked an Indian bus last night, stoned it and setting it afire. The driver died in a hospital later of multiple wounds on the head and body.

The outbreak started Saturday when a native woman was run down by an Indian-owned bus.

Continue Conferences

CHICAGO, Feb. 21.—(P)—Railroad management and labor representatives today continued conferences aimed at settling a wage-hour dispute of 1,000,000 non-operating workers.

Neither side gave any hint of how close they might be to any agreement. Committees representing the nation's major carriers and 16 unions have been meeting since early in January.

Non-operating workers are those not employed in running or servicing trains.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 21.—(P)—Geo. (Whitey) Kurowski signed his 1949 contract here today—taking a slight cut in salary because of a poor season last year—and three other Redbird contracts came by mail.

Those mailed in were from pitchers Jim Hearn and Ted Wilks and outfielder Ron Northey.

Navy Off For Mock Battle

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—(P)—The navy shoves off today for a mock battle with the two things that gave it gooseflesh—atom bombs and "Snorkel" submarines.

Major warships, including the 45,000-ton carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt, and the equally big battleship Missouri, are sailing from east coast ports for the Mid-Atlantic and later, the Caribbean.

Billed as the navy's biggest peacetime exercises, the games will combine some 35,000 men, 120 ships and several hundred aircraft to practice the latest tricks of sea warfare.

The navy is on the alert not only for its deep-sea trial of fighting ships against the A-bomb, but also because of disparagement of naval power by air power enthusiasts.

In particular, the air force has criticized the navy's yet-unbuilt 65,000 ton carrier as a pushover for bombers.

The navy has argued heatedly that even the A-bomb could sink no more than one ship out of a task force because of the wide dispersal between ships.

Poet Denies Any Betrayal

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—(P)—"I have not betrayed anyone," says Extra Pound, mental patient here after being charged with treason.

The statement came in response to a request for Pound's comment on the week-end announcement that he had won the $1,000 first prize in a contest for the best book of poetry published in 1948.

The poet's only other comment was "Inaccurate statements in press very tiring." His words were written in a bold hand on the margin of a sheet of paper listing questions about the award and his present literary work.

Pound was brought to the United States from Italy in November, 1945, to face charges that he made treasonable broadcasts in Italy during the war. He was adjudged of unsound mind and did not stand trial. He is confined to St. Elizabeth's hospital.

The $1,000 he won was "The Bollingen prize," an award established a year ago.

Eight Coaches Derailed

CHATWORTH, Ga., Feb. 21.—(P)—Eight coaches of the "Flamingo" of the Louisville and Nashville railroad were derailed early today. No one was reported injured.

L. A. West, agent for the L. and N., said a broken rail apparently caused the southbound coaches to leave the track. All remained upright, leaning against an embankment.

Leaflets From Planes

ATHENS, Feb. 21.—(P)—Military planes dropped thousands of leaflets in the Peloponnese today called on guerrillas to surrender. The pamphlets said 1,029 guerrillas had been killed, 915 captured and that 743 surrendered since mopping up operations started in the Peloponnese two months ago.

Notes of Lost US Atom Bomb

MUNICH, Germany, Feb. 21.—(P)—Notes about a "lost" American atom bomb bobbed up in the espionage trial of five Europeans before a U. S. court.

The prosecution read into the record alleged espionage reports to an unnamed foreign power. In one of the documents, which the prosecution said were found on one of two Polish defendants, there was a notation:

"One American atom bomb has been lost."

There was also the statement: "America has 600 atom bombs."

There was no explanation of these statements, nor any comment on their truth. Spectators in the courtroom snickered when the statements were read.

The prosecution charged the 25 documents introduced were taken from a woman's handbag in the possession of Theodore Szendier, a Pole and the first defendant. One of the other defendants also is Polish. The other three are Germans.

United States Will Not Stand Idly By

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—(P)—proposed North Atlantic pact will give its members strong assurances that the United States will not stand idly by in case of attack, it was learned today.

An official source whose name may not be used said the military clause of the pact will not commit this country automatically to war. But, he said, it will carry assurances so strong that none will mistake this nation's intention to resist aggression.

It is understood Secretary of State Acheson will negotiate with representatives of the pact-making countries on the basis of this new understanding reached with the Senate foreign relations committee.

Undertakers in France on Strike

PARIS, Feb. 21.—(P)—Undertakers all over France went on strike today, except in Kansas.

Emergency services were maintained, but only the simplest class of funeral was performed by private undertakers. About 8,500 employees were affected outside the capital, where the city government has a monopoly of burials.

Municipal service in other cities has been continued to function. Negotiations between unions and employers deadlocked Saturday when the government refused an increase in funeral rates.

Dog Comes Home After Six Years

KEARNY, N. J., Feb. 21.—(P)—Just as if nothing had happened Tinker, a black and white dog, sauntered home yesterday and settled into his favorite chair.

"He's come to stay," Bill Nichols, his owner, said happily. Tinker, completely nonchalant and uncommunicative, merely curled into a corner of the chair.

The dog hadn't been home since he was let out for a walk six years ago.

Need Money to Gain Control Of The House

GOP Row Over How To Finance 1950 Campaign

By Jack Bell

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—(P)—An internal row over how to finance the 1950 congressional campaign threatened today to pile Republican unity on the rocks.

GOP Congress members, headed by Minority Leader Martin of Massachusetts, are reported to have told National Chairman Hugh D. Scott, Jr., they want $200,000 to finance a vigorous drive to regain control of the House.

The implication is that if the national committee doesn't come through with more than the $40,000 it has tentatively allotted to the congressional campaign committee, House members will pick up their marbles and go look for their own financing.

Other Squawks
The same sort of squawks are reported coming from Senators who have been allotted only $10,000 thus far to get underway a campaign to save the seats of a dozen of their members and to try to take some away from the Democrats.

Usually the money for congressional campaigns is raised by a finance group operating in each state.

The national committee fixed $750,000 as this year's over-all goal. It expected to pay out of this the cost of its headquarters operations here, as well as financial help for the Senate and House committees.

Feeling Toward Committees
But the feeling was reported to have prompted the setting up of a House publicity committee, which Martin decided to head himself. Republican senators apparently aren't quite so heated up about finances. They don't need as much, as they always have former Senator John Townsend of Delaware, a tried and proven money raiser, to fall back on.

Senator Brewster of Maine, co-chairman with Townsend of the senatorial campaign committee, is reported leading peace efforts.

He said they think the national committee didn't do right by them in defending the 80th Congress' record. That feeling was reported to have prompted the setting up of a House publicity committee, which Martin decided to head himself. Cheerful Colors A Big Help

Your home may glow with color without costing any more than if you use drab or uninteresting colors in paint, wallpaper, and fabrics. This thought comes from Miss Louise Woodruff, home economist at the University of Missouri. Select colors for the living room that make it cheerful and inviting. Choose colors for the bedrooms that are restful. Colors in the kitchen should be so lively that they make you whistle while you work.

Cornice boards over windows give a finished look to a room. Make cornice boards from plywood. You may paint the board or cover it with material to match the draperies. For decoration some boards are cut with curved or scalloped edges.

USDA Tills Farms For Wonder Drug Crop

Scientists Finding Richest Source of New Medicines

At the U. S. Department of Agriculture's research laboratory at Philadelphia, Dr. Jas. F. Couch inspects a sample of rutin obtained from green buckwheat. Dr. Couch first discovered the medicinal value of the drug, useful in treating fragile and weakened capillaries.

By Douglas Larsen
NEA Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON—The American farmers are becoming the richest source of the new wonder drugs. U. S. Department of Agriculture scientists experimenting with the farm products have led the field in discovering new medicines that give promise of curing everything from athlete's foot to radiation burns. In most cases, farm waste materials and the by-products of processed foods are producing the clues to these amazing discoveries.

Newest of these drugs is tomatine, a substance derived from a special variety of tomato plants. In laboratory tests it has shown excellent promise of becoming one of the best remedies yet discovered for athlete's foot, ringworm and other fungus diseases. Duke university is now conducting extensive clinical tests on it.

Tomatine was discovered accidentally during a research project aimed at finding a tomato plant to resist a wilt disease which was ravaging tomato crops in the U. S. It was discovered that a new substance, later named tomatine, was found in all of the plants that resisted the disease, but wasn't present in the plants that didn't. Just on a hunch one of the researchers tried tomatine in a test tube with a human fungus culture and found that the tomatine killed it.

It isn't on the market yet, but it is relatively cheap to produce and will be quickly supplied to drug stores once the Duke tests are completed.

Polymyxin, recently discovered in a USDA laboratory, is a product of a mold, like penicillin, and has possibilities of becoming just as sensational an antibiotic as penicillin. Tests have shown it to be effective in killing germs of whooping cough, certain types of pneumonia, undulant fever and infant diarrhea. It also holds great promise as the most effective drug for combating brucellosis, the dread cattle killer.

A new drug which might be helpful in case of atomic warfare is rutin, produced from green buckwheat plants. It was first put on the market two years ago after doctors, in cooperation with the USDA, discovered that it was helpful in curing a wide variety of hemorrhagic conditions. Extensive tests showed that it restored weakened capillary walls to normal in 85 per cent of the cases.

After it became popular among doctors for this purpose, it was discovered that rutin was an excellent treatment for the prevention of some gangrene. Still later its possible value as a medicine for radiation burns was discovered. The first tests showed that dogs that had been burned by X-rays recovered completely when given rutin. It repaired the damaged cells. Cell damage is one deadly feature of atomic radiation. The tests now being conducted with rutin as an atomic burn remedy are top secret. But government scientists are optimistic about its possibilities for this purpose.

At first rutin was extracted from tobacco plants. When the demand for it rose a search began for a cheaper source. The plant finally selected was green buckwheat. It is much cheaper than tobacco but contains up to 12 times as much rutin. In 1948 the value of the production of rutin was estimated at $150 million.

Another drug discovered in the Departments of Agriculture laboratories — and made from waste asparagus butts — is subtilin. The first research with its possibilities has shown it to be effective against tuberculosis and tropical ulcers. It, too, could become an antibiotic on a par with penicillin.

Although penicillin was discovered in England and its amazing germ killing properties first noted there, it was the Department of Agriculture laboratory in Peoria, Ill., which discovered a method of producing it in large enough quantities to permit its widespread use.

The first important discovery at Peoria was that the production of penicillin was greatly increased when the mold was fed with corn steep liquor, a by-product of corn starch manufacture, and milk sugar. Next, the highest production of penicillin mold strain was accidentally discovered on a cantaloupe in a Peoria market. A scientist who bought the melon to take home saw the mold and tested it later in the lab just on a hunch.

Livestock Meet On February 25

Livestock producers of Pettis county are invited to attend an all day meeting dealing with feeding, breeding, disease and parasite control, and management in the Court House in Sedalia (Assembly room) Friday, February 25.

The morning session will be on hogs, starting at 10:30 a. m. Afternoon the subjects under discussion will be cattle and sheep.

This annual livestock producers conference is held under the direction of the County Extension Service. In addition to reports of the experience of farmers, Charles Kyd, Extension Specialist in Animal Husbandry, University of Missouri will be on the program in the morning and afternoon.

Reports and discussions, some of these by local people or about experiences of Pettis county livestock producers will deal with providing pig pastures free from parasites, selecting gilts by litter weights at weaning, use of sodium flouride in hogs, and other management items on hog production. Likewise the cattle phase of the meeting will deal with pasture, roughage, grain feeding, breeding, weight for age of calves, equality of cattle, limited grain feeding.

Sheep problems will be discussed last on the program. Parasite control, feeds, breeding and pasture, will be discussed. All interested in the livestock phase of balanced farming are invited to attend.

Time for Fixing Shortage Space

Now is a good time for the man of the house to build in some extra storage space. By starting now he can get the carpentry work out of the way before spring house cleaning. This suggestion comes from Miss Madonna Fitzgerald, home management specialist at the University of Missouri.

Many bedrooms lack storage space. Every bedroom needs at least one closet. The shallow reach-in closet saves the most space and is easily arranged. A satisfactory closet may be built at the end of the hall, under the stairs or between two rooms. Some bedrooms have a sloping roof with windows on the same wall. A seat can be built at the window with storage space underneath. A closet may be built even with the window seat on the wall space beside the window.

Do not waste space in closets already in bedrooms. Space above or on a closet door can be equipped for storage. Racks, hangers, and hooks on the door provide storage space for hats, belts, ties and umbrellas. Racks of some kind are needed to keep shoes off the floor. This not only preserves the shoes but makes cleaning the floor easier.

wearily home.

An investigation revealed that this custom actually wasted two or three hours of daylight work per day, per farmer. It was a needless waste of energy for the farmer.

Multiplying by all the farm workers in Italy, the loss of two to three hours a day meant a staggering loss to Italian food production.

After this important discovery the solution to the problem became obvious. Give the farmers homes on the farms.

And that is what ECA is in the process of doing. With its funds it is helping Italian farmers in all areas build homes on their land.

Already excellent results are showing. Without their unnecessary daily commuting to work on foot they have increased their output and have conserved their strength.

Getting the Italian farmer to abandon the custom of hilltop living was at first difficult. But the better homes which they are getting and the generally improved working conditions have completely sold them on the value of living on their farms.

This simple contribution by the ECA experts is well on its way to revolutionizing Italian farming.

ECA Farmhouses Keep 'em on the Farm

Italy's Food Output is Boosted by Building Homes

Outside his new home, built with the help of ECA funds, an Italian farmer ploughs his fields, while his daughter (left) plays in the furrows. By putting the farmer's home where his farm is, U.S. experts are changing the time wasting Italian rural picture below.

These are "rural commuters" — Italy's hilltop farmers for whom the ECA is building new homes to boost Italian food output. Their daily four or five hour hike to and from the fields was found to be wasting precious daylight farm hours.

By NEA Foreign Service
ROME, Italy — If you want to keep the farmer down on the farm, the best thing to do is build him a farmhouse.

That simple explanation was discovered by the Economic Cooperation Administration experts in Italy and has resulted in a tremendous boost to Italian food production.

When the ECA experts arrived to help Italy increase its farm output, they were at first amused by an ancient custom found in all Italian rural areas. The farmers all lived together in small hilltop villages. Each morning they walked four or five miles to the fields carrying their own tools, and each night they plodded

Hubbard High Tigers Win Championship

Hitting their stride for the first time this season, Hubbard Tigers tugged the C. M. C. Conference championship in their pocket Saturday. Sedalia defeated Hannibal, Dalton, and Boonville to take first place in the Conference Tournament.

In the quarter finals Sedalia defeated Dalton 56 to 31. Boonville was defeated in the semi-finals 62 to 39. Hannibal fell to the Tigers 28 to 25 in the finals.

The first game of the tournament saw Hubbard run rough shod over Dalton to settle a grudge battle between the two teams in the regular season, 56 to 31. Hollin leading the way for the Tigers with 19 points. Hughes scored 9 points to lead Dalton.

Played in Army
The second game saw Mason take over the scoring honors with 25 points, Tolin 13, and Fitzpatrick 16 to pace the Tigers. Greene for Boonville, with 10 and Quint with 11, paced the Summer High team.

The finals played in the Army at Hannibal before a crowd of 1,000 fans, saw two teams meet to decide the championship of the conference. Coach Broadus changed the style of play to controlled basketball. Playing a tight zone defense and controlling both the bankboard and the ball. Hannibal could not cope with the steady ball playing of the Tigers. The loss evened the season record with Hannibal for an earlier defeat, received by the Tigers at the hands of Hannibal.

All tournament selections were made and silver basketballballs and certificates were awarded to the members of the first and second teams:

First Team
F—Coleman, Hannibal.
F—Mason, Sedalia.
C—Fitzpatrick, Sedalia.
G—Smith, Hannibal.
G—Porter, Columbia.
Second Team
F—Hollin, Sedalia.
F—Green, Boonville.
C—Hughes, Dalton.
G—Wilson, Columbia.
G—Warrick, Boonville.

The play of Fitzpatrick who scored 45 points and controlled the bankboards like a czar was the outstanding player of the tournament. Mason of Sedalia scored 40 points to run a close second. Hollin of Sedalia with 38 points just missed being placed upon the all-tournament team by one vote. All the members of the first team were masters of their game.

Golden Gloves Bouts Tonight

CHICAGO, Feb. 21 — (AP) — Amateur boxing's biggest show—the 22nd annual Golden Gloves tournament of Champions—opens tonight in Chicago stadium.

Clerks, butchers, blacksmiths, candy makers, soldiers, sailors, marines, laborers, business men, college students, high school hopefuls—312 of them will be ready to mix in the nation's No. 1 punch bowl.

They come from 39 centers, from nearly all states except on the Atlantic seaboard. They are winners in sectional elimination tournaments.

The little guys—flyweights, bantamweights, featherweights and lightweight—will uncork their artillery in 120 bouts on tonight's first round.

The welterweights, middleweights, light heavies and heavies make their appearance tomorrow. On Wednesday, the survivors of each weight class return for a 32-bout quarterfinals. The semi-finals and finals are March 4 when an intercity team will be chosen to meet the eastern champions in New York's Madison Square Garden March 28.

Heading the invasion will be the 1948 team co-champions, Oklahoma City and Cincinnati. The former is headed by its two time national and international winner, Herschel Acton, now seeking welterweight honors after his lightweight successes.

Sports Roundup

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.
NEW YORK, Feb. 21—(AP) — One of those annual signs of spring—just like the first robin—has just come in. It's Cliff Roberts' little green-covered booklet called "Records of the Masters Tournament" and with it a note from Cliff saying that Bobby Jones can't play this year but will be on hand to help direct the tournament.

To most Americans golf and Bobby Jones mean virtually the same thing. And Bobby and his brain child, the Augusta National course, go along together. . . . It's a course designed to give a "fair" test of golf to expert and dub alike—no tricky traps and only about 30 bunkers—and they all like it. The course record is 64, by Lloyd Mangrum, but in a dozen masters tournaments since 1934, the world's best golfers haven't been able to beat 79 for 72 holes. That wouldn't win $22.50 in an ordinary winter tournament. . . . Best of all, it's one of the courses which retain the custom of naming each hole—Magnolia, Carolina Cherry, Dogwood, Red Bud and the like.

If that doesn't sound like spring, we don't know what does.

The baby bear which Chicago's Mayor Kennelly won from Elmer Robinson, mayor of San Francisco, when Northwestern won the Rose Bowl game appears doomed to a lonely existence in the zoo. Kennelly christened the infant Charles (after Charley Grimm) Elmer (after the San Francisco executive) George (after Halas) and still the Cubs and Bears turned thumbs down on the offer of a mascot. So, naturally, did Northwestern, whose emblem is a wildcat.

Johnny Palmer Wins Jackpot

HOUSTON, Tex., Feb. 21—(AP) —Johnny Palmer of Badin, N. C., won the $2,000 jackpot that went with first place in the Houston Open golf tournament by the skin of his teeth.

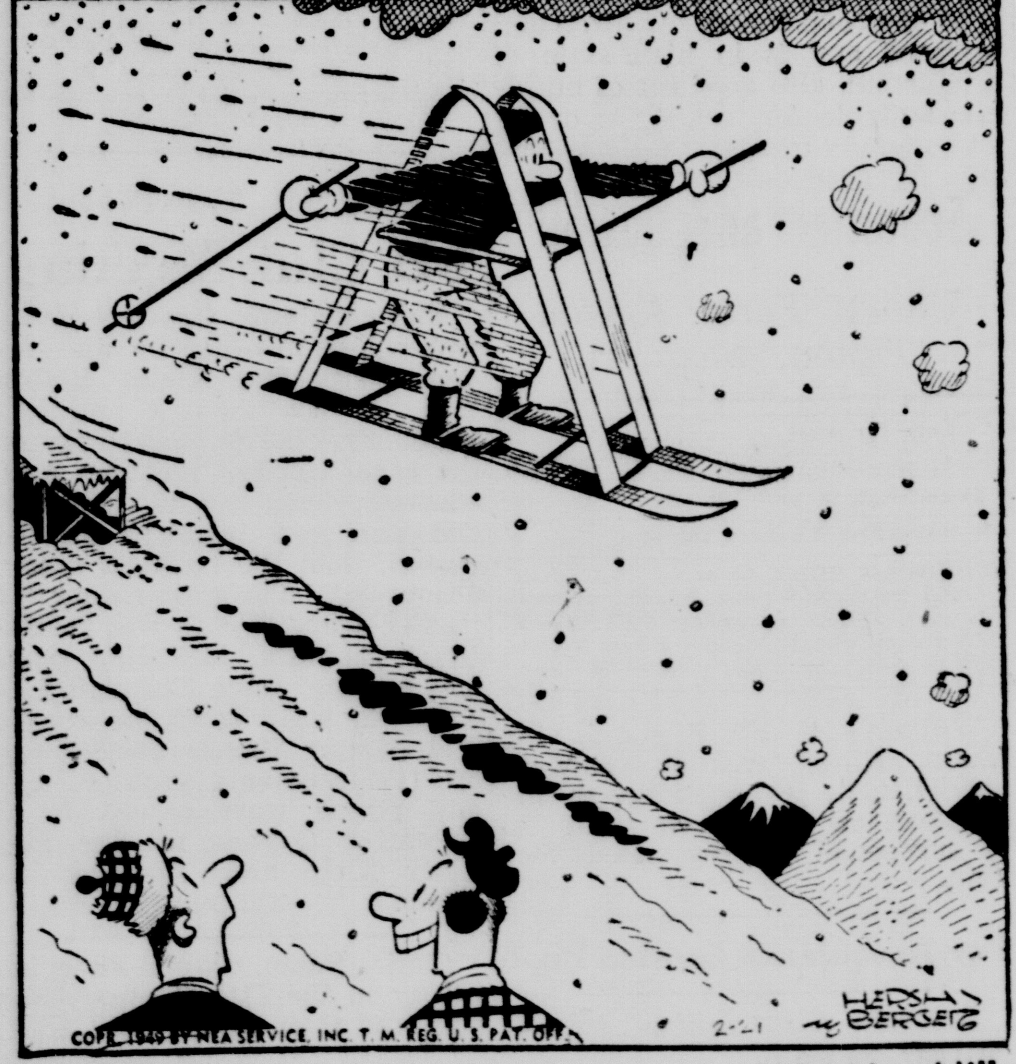

He beat the Memphis golfing dentist, Cary Middlecoff, one stroke yesterday when the Tennessee pro went one over par on the 17th hole and missed a chance to tie the match on the 18th by inches.

Palmer toured the 6,710-yard, par 72 Pine Forest Country club course in 67 strokes to end with a 71-67-272.

Jim Turnesa, Briar Cliff, N. Y., followed the two leaders with a 274. Close behind was Jim Ferrier, San Francisco, and Marty Furgol, Albuquerque, N. M., at 276. E. J. Harrison of Albuquerque posted a 277 for sixth place and veteran Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., was next with 281.

Middlecoff won $1,400 for second place.

DIESEL LOCOMOTIVES HAUL MORE GOODS AND PASSENGERS...

Passenger diesel Freight diesel

... WITH GREATER SAFETY AND COMFORT FOR EVERYBODY

Regular fireman Regular engineer

BECAUSE OF ITS MODERN, ALMOST FOOLPROOF DESIGN, THE DIESEL IS PRACTICALLY AUTOMATIC!

Yet leaders of two railroad unions demand extra men on diesels!

Just plain feather-bedding—here's why!

Here's the truth about diesel locomotives. Diesel locomotives are equipped with every modern device for maximum safety. They have automatic controls. They can be operated safely by one man. But two men—an engineer and a fireman—are now employed on a diesel road locomotive.

Diesel locomotives—adopted by the railroads as one way of improving their service to you—have hauled millions of passengers in recent years with one of the best safety records in railroad history!

They have pulled millions of tons of freight millions of miles—also with one of the best safety records in railroad history!

Full Pay—No Work!

Leaders of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the Brotherhood of Firemen and Enginemen are now demanding an extra engineer and an extra fireman on diesels, claiming the extra men are needed. But the facts prove these men are not needed. They would just be drawing full pay for doing no work.

The railroads are placing an ever-increasing number of diesels in service—both passenger and freight. These trains are

HERE ARE THE FACTS!

1. The safety record of trains pulled by diesel locomotives is the best of all public transportation.
2. Diesel locomotives provide the best working conditions locomotive engineers and firemen have ever enjoyed: comfort, cleanliness, ease of operation, maximum safety.
3. Diesel locomotives are maintained at peak operating efficiency.
4. The diesel is virtually automatic. It is equipped with the most modern safety appliances.
5. The diesel locomotive is the last word in railroad efficiency, safety and comfort.
